Seventh Army Troops Land on Ebeye in Marshalls

Jap Resistance Encountered, but Losses Are Few

Nimitz Reports Good Progress

By CHARLES H. MCMURTRY

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 4 (AP)—Troops of the seventh army division landed on Ebeye island north of Kwajalein and have occupied half of the island despite resistance of Kwajalein.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported in a communique tonight that the landing was unopposed but resistance was encountered a short distance from the beach.

Since the island already is half occupied, opposition presumably was not great.

Admiral Nimitz also reported:

Two More Islands Taken

Two small islands between Kwajalein and Ebeye have been occupied following neutralization of moderate opposition.

Gugue and Loi islands just north of Ebeye are being subjected to bombing and naval gunfire. The enemy is answering our fire.

Resistance on Kwajalein island, at the south end of Kwajalein atoll, continues but progress is being made.

Our casualties continue moderate. Ebeye is a small, thin island 5-60 feet long and 700 feet wide.

It has two seaplane bases, complete with ramps, hangars and shops. It also has a pier and radio station. It is one of the important islands of Kwajalein atoll.

Gugue forms the southern flank to one of the main channels into Kwajalein lagoon which a large portion of the American fleet has entered. It consists of an island 4,800 feet long and 400 feet wide and two tiny islands. It is fairly heavily fortified with pillboxes, artillery and machine-gun emplacements, and the seaward side has trenches for riflemen.

Little is known of Loi. Virtually no news was received from Kwajalein island where, Admiral Nimitz reported, operations continued satisfactorily and progress is being made. Last night's report said the island then was half occupied.

Allies Destroy 80 Jap Planes

MacArthur Reports Attack on Wewak

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Saturday, Feb. 5 (AP)—Eighty Japanese planes were destroyed by Allied planes in a heavy raid on the Japanese base at Wewak, New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Apparently the Japanese air force was caught completely by surprise. Seventy-two enemy planes were brought down and destroyed. Eight were shot down.

Wewak is the major air and supply base for the entire Japanese defenses in the northeastern New Guinea sector. It was last reported hit on Jan. 23 when Allied airplanes knocked down and destroyed from thirty-three to forty-five Japanese planes.

Roosevelt Signs Bill Providing $100 to $300 Extra Pay for Vets

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt's signature on mustering-out pay legislation tonight guaranteed veterans of World War Two cash payments to help them make the adjustment from military to civilian life.

The law provides from $100 to $300 for each eligible veteran. Mustering-out pay of World War One amounted to about $60. This new scale and the commensurately higher number of military personnel in this war will cost the nation approximately $3,000,000,000.

Pay Due for Many Now

There already have been 1,300,000 discharges since Pearl Harbor. These servicemen may apply now to the war and navy departments for their mustering-out pay. With thirty days of the application, it is to be acted upon.

As he signed the bill, Mr. Roosevelt urged Congress to move full speed ahead on other proposals he

Senator Will Fight:

Lodge Quits Senate To Go to War; Choice of Some for Vice President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., 41-year-old Republican senator from Massachusetts, gave up his Senate seat today and donned the uniform of an army major, heading for combat duty overseas.

Earlier in the war Lodge, grandson and namesake of one of Massachusetts' most famous political figures, had served with an American tank detachment with the British Eighth Army in Libya. His decision to re-enter active service was made on a letter of resignation read today by Senator Walsh (D-Mass.).

In view of his age, military service would by no means prevent Lodge's eventual return to political life. Instead, as he pointed out by legislators who remember other years of postwar preferment for veterans, it could advance his public career. A group in Pennsylvania has already proposed a MacArthur-Lodge presidential ticket for 1944.

There was immediate speculation on Lodge's successor in the Senate, but Republican Governor Leverett Saltonstall, of Massachusetts, who is in Washington today, said he had given the matter no consideration.

Attacks on Press Arouse Bricker

Freedom in Peril, Governor Asserts

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker declared tonight the Roosevelt administration had made a "studied attempt to undermine the newspapers and radio" and called for lifting of governmental restrictions which he contended endangered the freedoms of press and speech.

Bricker, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination said that all sources of information must be kept open and proposed, though "it may be millennial," a free press throughout the world.

Sees Slap at Press

Administration literature, Bricker told the Ohio newspaper association in a prepared address, has become full of expressions which "are evidence of a calculated purpose to discredit the press."

"The New Deal is peculiarly resentful of honest criticism," he said. "Publishers, editors, correspondents and sports writers have been denounced. One newspaper man was told by the president to put on a dunce cap and sit in the corner. To another one, he awarded the Iron Cross and another he chided for asking 'picayune' questions. Recently the president was asked if he had any comment on the appeal of the Associated Press case. His only reply was a flippant question as to whether the country club is still running."

Leadership Needed

The spirit of freedom, the governor declared, cries out for intelligent leadership from the press.

"If that leadership fails," he said, "American liberty is in danger. Political propaganda must be destroyed as an instrumental of government. We must insist that appropriate sources of information must be kept open to the press of the country. Public information should never be restricted to the handout, off-the-record and not for attribution methods. News must be available and free to all alike as well as the right to print the news."

McCormick and MacArthur Backed in Illinois

CHICAGO, Feb. 4 (AP)—Supporters of Col. Robert R. McCormick and Gen. Douglas MacArthur prepared today to enter both men in the April 11 Illinois Republican presidential preference primary, with the political race in this pivotal Midwestern state opening officially tomorrow.

has made for aiding the servicemen upon discharge. They provide for programs to allow the young men and women to continue their education at partial government expense; grant them social security credits for their period in service; and set up a plan for unemployment compensation benefits.

Not All Eligible

The mustering-out pay is denied to those eligible to retirement pay, those discharged to take civilian jobs, the dishonorably discharged, those whose total period of service has been as a student in special training programs, and those ranked above a captain.

The others get $100 for less than sixty days service in the United States, $200 for sixty days or more in this country, and $300 for service overseas or in Alaska. The first $100 is to be paid immediately, and the remainder in $100 monthly installments due on other proposals he

Five Lives Lost In Plane Crash

Three Men, 2 Women Killed near Elkins

ELKINS, W. Va., Feb. 4 (AP)—Short of fuel and trapped in a heavy overcast, an airplane bearing members of a prominent Midwest family to Washington, D. C., struck a hillside today, killing three men and two women.

The plane crashed four miles from Elkins a few moments after the municipal airport heard the pilot asking for landing instructions. It was the third air tragedy in three weeks in this section of the treacherous Allegheny mountains.

The dead were identified as: Wilbur E. Hightower, president of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Oklahoma City, former president of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce and prominent civic leader.

Mrs. John Robey Penn, his daughter.

Roy Hunt, Oklahoma City, pilot.

Mrs. Roy Hunt, the pilot's wife.

George Ruddy, Oklahoma City, co-pilot.

Called by Illness

Hightower and his daughter had been summoned to Washington by the serious illness of Mrs. Frank Johnson, the banker's mother-in-law. They apparently were unaware that Mrs. Johnson had died this morning.

The plane, owned by Leslie Fain of the Fain Drilling Company, left Oklahoma City early in the morning.

The scene of the crash was about four miles from Elkins near United States route 219.

Thugs Lose Half Of $30,000 Loot

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—A few hours after six masked thugs stole a $30,000 war plant payroll, only to lose more than half of it in a wild flight, two hold-up men tonight robbed the Bankers Federal Savings and Loan Association office of $3,500.

"Come with me and keep quiet," one of the two men told Theodore H. Theban, Jr., manager of the association, as he stepped outside at the close of the day's business.

They ordered him to unlock the office door, and then a small safe. They fled with the safe's contents after leaving the man bound hand and foot. He struggled free about fifteen minutes later and sounded an alarm.

In the earlier hold-up at the war plant, the six robbers, operating with a machine gun, escaped in an automobile which crashed with another car. More than $16,000 was found in a package in the wrecked vehicle.

The men still were at large tonight although police threw a heavy guard around the huge New York Port Authority building where they last were seen.

Argentina Breaks Off with Axis

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 4 (AP)—The Argentine government announced tonight it had broken off diplomatic relations with Vichy France, Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary—all Axis satellites—following up its rupture with Germany and Japan last month.

The government of President Pedro Ramirez broke relations with Germany and Japan Jan. 26—the last of twenty-one American republics to do so.

100,000 Germans Face Death on Bank of Dnieper

Russians Closing Gigantic Pincers

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON, Saturday, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Red army, squeezing tighter its steel cordon around ten trapped Nazi divisions in the Ukraine, has killed 2,800 more Germans fighting frantically to escape and has pounded back German rescue attempts from the outside, wrecking eighty-four big Junkers transport planes and fifty-eight tanks, Moscow announced today.

In the north Soviet troops have completely cleared the 110-mile coast of the Gulf of Finland from Leningrad west to the Narova river mouth inside Estonia. Other forces wiped out the last Germans on the railway from Leningrad to Novgorod, the second north-south line freed since the battle of the north began. Another 2,700 Germans were killed in this fighting, said the Moscow midnight bulletin.

100,000 Nazis Trapped

The bloodiest fighting on the flaming Russian front, however, centered on the contracting circle—now perhaps forty miles in diameter—on the west bank of the Dnieper river between Kanev and Cherkassy where perhaps 100,000 Germans were facing death or surrender.

"Our troops fought an engagement for annihilation of encircled enemy groupings," the communique said. "The Germans attempt by counterattack to feel out weak places and break out of encirclement. Our troops repulsed all Hitlerite counterattacks and inflicted heavy losses on them in manpower and material."

Rescue Efforts Fails

The Germans outside the circle in one action attempted to send a tank column through Russian lines to their comrades yesterday but Russian artillery and tank destroyers sent them reeling back with a loss of thirty-two tanks.

"Our air force is blockading from the air enemy airdromes and landing grounds in the area of encircled German troops," the communique said.

Americans Sink Three Jap Ships

By HAMILTON W. FARON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Sneaking through the South Atlantic with cargoes vital to the Axis war machine, three Nazi blockade runners ran into the blazing guns of American warships and were sent to the bottom.

All had started their furtive trips in Japanese-held ports of the Pacific, the navy revealed today, and their holds were loaded with thousands of tons of rubber, tin, fats and strategic ores.

Much Material Salvaged

Much of this material was salvaged, particularly hundreds of tons of baled rubber floating in the debris after the runners were sunk.

Many prisoners were taken from the three ships whose crews attempted to scuttle their vessels on orders from Nazi leaders in efforts to prevent capture of the valuable cargoes.

Kirke L. Simpson Says:

German Report of "Encirclement" Of Allied Beachhead Looks False

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Associated Press War Analyst

Navy reports that the Fifth army beachhead at Nettuno south of Rome has been "encircled" can be discounted, but there is ample evidence from the scene that the operation has reached a critical stage.

For the moment, at least, that bold Allied flanking maneuver aimed at cutting in between Rome and the main battle line in Italy to the south appears to be stopped. It could not be encircled, with Allied naval forces of tremendous power at its back; but it could be boxed into its beachhead roughly fourteen miles wide and eight miles deep. That seems to be what the Berlin "encirclement" bulletin really meant.

Tough Battle Ahead

German gun positions on the Alban hills, just south of Rome, are such as to command all the direct roads inshore from the Nettuno-Anzio beachhead center. They fan out on both sides of that hill mass and with the Nazi front south of the Cisterna-Velletri-Valmontone road now seemingly well bolstered, it will take a knock-down-drag-out fight to attain decisive results.

American Heavy Bombers Attack Western Germany

Blast Frankfurt, Lose 22 Planes

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Making their sixth major attack in seven days, a powerful armada of American heavy bombers attacked the important German industrial and communications center of Frankfurt and other targets in Western Germany again today in operations from which twenty-one bombers and one fighter failed to return.

The attacking Flying Fortresses and Liberators were escorted by American long-range Thunderbolts, Lightnings and Mustangs and supported by RAF Dominions and Allied Spitfires and Typhoons, an army headquarters communique announced tonight.

Meet Little Opposition

While only weak German fighter operations were encountered, returning crews reported that the Nazis had sent up a heavy curtain of anti-aircraft fire over the area.

Guns on the bombers shot down four German planes while the escorting fighters accounted for eight more for a total enemy loss of twelve planes, the bulletin said.

In other operations during the day hundreds of lighter Allied aircraft crossed the channel to continue the pounding of military targets in Northern France.

Clouds Protect Fighters

Cloudbanks, rising 15,000 feet in some places, protected the American heavy bombers from serious fighter opposition, but they had to plow through flashing fields of anti-aircraft fire.

Hundreds of American heavy bombers participated in the attack but the communique did not disclose the exact number.

Bogus Gasoline Coupons in Use

Frauds Increasing, Officials Declare

BALTIMORE, Feb. 4 (AP)—Disclosing there had been a considerable increase in the number of counterfeit gasoline coupons found in circulation within the past six weeks, the Maryland Office of Price Administration announced an intensified campaign against illegal operations.

An OPA spokesman declared that the suspension of gasoline selling privileges of seven Baltimore area filling station operators, announced by the agency yesterday, represented the first tangible results of the drive to wipe out traffic in counterfeit coupons.

This spokesman said that agents of the enforcement division had intensified a check of coupons deposited in ration stamp accounts by distributors. Counterfeit coupons are tracked back to the retailer who accepted them the spokesman said, and the retailer is then debited permanently on his account to the value of the fake stamps.

FDR Agrees with Willkie:

President Approves Rival's Plea For Greatly Increased War Taxes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt, asked today for his observations on Wendell L. Willkie's call for higher taxes, pictured himself and the Republican leader alike as thinking of the future.

The president's first reaction was a statement that he had not had the nerve to ask for as much in new revenue as Willkie did in a Monday speech—some $16,000,000,000—that he had called for only $10,000,000,000.

Then he went on to tell his news conference that in any case he and Willkie both were thinking of the next generation, not just this one.

Willkie, calling the $10,000,000,000 request unrealistically low, told a New York audience that "the chief reason we need big taxes is to pay for a big war without mortgaging our future more than is necessary. If we pay for the war to the extent of our ability as it goes on, the problem of inflation will be largely taken care of."

Both the president and Willkie have been challenged by the tax-drafting committee on Capitol Hill to prove that taxes much higher than as estimated $43,500,000,000 annual total can be handled by this tax-paying generation. This estimate, by the tax experts of the joint Senate-House staff, includes the $2,300,000,000 in the new tax bill.

Service Voting Hits Deadlock

Senate in Favor Of FDR's Plans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Service vote legislation apparently headed toward at least a temporary deadlock between the Senate and House today when administration supporters won successive Senate and House votes.

By a 42 to 42 tie vote, the administration defeated an attempt to shelve the Green-Lucas bill for measure after beating off, 46 to 42, an earlier opposition move.

House and Senate Split

The latter vote came on a proposal to substitute for the Green-Lucas bill a "states' rights" measure sponsored by a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

Since all the opposition to a federal ballot was united behind the move, the outcome was generally accepted as meaning the Senate will approve the administration plan which the House rejected last night when passing a bill for state absentee ballots.

The Senate quit for the day without taking further action and Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky called a Saturday session to try to wind up work on the measure.

He indicated the administration would follow the strategy of substituting the Green-Lucas bill for the House-approved measure and sending it back to the House for action on the Senate amendment.

Compromise Possible

With the two chambers deadlocked, the eventual outcome might be a compromise, worked out by a Senate-House committee, or no measure at all.

The latter possibility was mentioned on the Senate floor by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), sponsor with fourteen others of the defeated substitute. He complained that the Senate had been thrown into an extraordinary parliamentary situation, and said adoption of the Green-Lucas bill might mean "a complete legislative deadlock with the House" with the result that no service vote bill would get through Congress.

Will Extend Control

The announcement applies at this time, only to Kwajalein atoll and its numerous islets which United States forces have overrun. It will be extended to other atolls and islands when they are taken over.

Riding in the spacious lagoon of Kwajalein atoll, United States warships are but 2,000 miles from Tokyo.

In the space of but two days the central Pacific offensive, launched only last weekend, has sliced off one-third of the distance between Pearl Harbor and the Japanese homeland.

It has given our amphibious forces new footholds 2,000 miles nearer than Pearl Harbor to the enemy's island defenses in the Carolines including Truk, a powerful Japanese bastion.

20,000 on Strike In War Plants

DETROIT, Feb. 4 (AP)—A strike of an estimated 20,000 Michigan and Ohio war workers continued tonight in the face of condemnation from spokesmen for the armed forces and government agencies.

Meantime the striking union's leader—Matthew Smith, national secretary of the Mechanics Educational Society of America—defied a threat by the War Labor Board to invoke sanctions and penalties against the union.

Smith, replying to a WLB order for union officers to appear at a hearing in Washington Monday, said, "Impossible." He said the union's machinery, involving votes of delegates to the executive board, could not be brought into action by that time.

"Only the WLB's ignorance of a labor union's structure could be responsible for such an order," Smith said. "I don't know what the sanctions or penalties are, but we are prepared to meet them."

"Threats, after our organizational rights are ignored, will not get our members back to work."

WLB said it would use subpoena power if necessary to bring the union's officers to the hearing.

Terrific Attack Beaten Off in Close Fighting

Americans Hold Part of Cassino

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN ITALY, Feb. 4 (AP)—American and British veterans fighting side by side tonight were stubbornly holding off fierce attacks of German infantry and tanks against their two-week-old beachhead less than twenty miles south of the Eternal City.

A dispatch sent at 5:05 o'clock this afternoon from the battle scene by Associated Press Correspondent Daniel De Luce said the Allied troops "in staunchly defended fox-holes" were "holding off the growing storm of the German counter-offensive," aided by heavy artillery support.

Americans in Cassino

Further south a battlefield dispatch said American troops had gained a "good toe-hold" on Cassino, anchor of the Germans cross-Italy southern line and that American doughboys were in buildings in the town and controlled some streets.

Air Forces Grounded

With air forces grounded by bad weather artillery of both sides was belching forth thousands of shells in a ceaseless cannonading and infantry troops were locked in bloody hand-to-hand fighting as the Allied troops checked the heavy counter-offensive of the Germans against the Anzio beachhead.

So confused was the fighting at the beachhead last night and today that 100 British Tommies encircled and captured by the Germans were freed later by another group of British soldiers and their German captors made prisoners by the Tommies.

Americans Hold Ground

One American unit withstood concentrated fire from German tanks and mortars without budging an inch.

Allied headquarters announced that the first four smashes by the Nazis had been repulsed with heavy losses and that American troops improved their positions somewhat west of German-held Cisterna, the "town of 1,000 pill-boxes" on the Apennine Way twenty-four miles southeast of Rome.

Sensational Nazi Report

(A broadcast by the German DNB news agency declared that "major enemy forces" had been encircled within the beachhead and that Allied "relief attacks" were repulsed.)

Droves of tanks, including six-ton Tigers, led the hard German thrusts, with Nazi planes frequently sweeping in ahead of them to bomb and strafe the dug-in Americans and British. Both sides were using tanks as attack units and as mobile artillery. A field dispatch said the battle for Cisterna would "be remembered as one of the bloodiest and most fiercely contested of the whole war."

Anti-Roosevelt Democrats Plan Own Convention

CHICAGO, Feb. 4 (AP)—A group of anti-administration Democrats announced tonight formation of the American Democratic National Committee and said it would hold a convention to adopt "a Democratic platform and nominate Democratic candidates for president and vice president."

The group is led by Harry M. Woodring, former secretary of war in the Roosevelt administration.

17 Weeks Training For Future Doughboys

BALTIMORE, Feb. 4 (AP)—Lieut. Col. L. S. Moore, classification and assignment officer of the Third Service Command, said tonight that the majority of the men now being inducted into the army are assigned to infantry replacement divisions and will be sent overseas after seven weeks training.

Union President Defies WLB Edict

DETROIT, Feb. 4 (AP)—A strike of an estimated 20,000 Michigan and Ohio war workers continued tonight in the face of condemnation from spokesmen for the armed forces and government agencies.

Meantime the striking union's leader—Matthew Smith, national secretary of the Mechanics Educational Society of America—defied a threat by the War Labor Board to invoke sanctions and penalties against the union.

Smith, replying to a WLB order for union officers to appear at a hearing in Washington Monday, said, "Impossible." He said the union's machinery, involving votes of delegates to the executive board, could not be brought into action by that time.

"Threats, after our organizational rights are ignored, will not get our members back to work."

WLB said it would use subpoena power if necessary to bring the union's officers to the hearing.

Tax Exemption on FDR's Property At Hyde Park Tough on Taxpayers

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—A complaint against local tax losses as a result of federal and state acquisition of property in Hyde Park, N. Y., the home town of President Roosevelt, was voiced today by Elmer Van Wagner, town supervisor.

Property with assessed value of $473,000 has been removed from Hyde Park's total assessment rolls of $3,200,000. Van Wagner testified at a hearing conducted here by the Congressional committee on public lands.

He listed the tax exempt property as including the Franklin D. Roosevelt library, with an assessed value of $420,000; the estate of Col. Edmund Rogers, assessed at $138,000; and the Ogden Hills and Vanderbilt estates, which have been converted into state parks.

"Hyde park is a town of parks, with no benefit to the people who reside there," Van Wagner declared.

Questioning Van Wagner about the Roosevelt library and the president's estate, Rep. J. Edgar Cienkowski (R-Colo.) drew laughter from the hearing spectators when he commented:

"It was my understanding that he was going to move back there next January."

Witnesses from seven northern states testified that local governments had suffered hardships by removal from tax rolls of large properties taken over by the federal government for war purposes since the outbreak of hostilities in Europe.

Where State Legislators Should Be Put on the Spot

AS Governor O'Connor passed the buck on the question of a special session of the General Assembly for repeal of the disreputable Declaration of Intentions act, which was urged by some twenty-five labor organizations, the Maryland and District of Columbia Industrial Union Council is to be commended for putting the question up to the members of the legislature.

The latter organization in doing so is challenging the run-around by the governor who excused his denial of the request by saying that he would look upon it "more favorably"—a lukewarm intimation that might not mean affirmative action—"if a sufficient number of legislators would advise of their intention to repeal this law if called into session." He added that he could discern no evidence of any interest in the subject by state legislators.

It is likely that a special session of the General Assembly will be called in order to guarantee Maryland servicemen their voting privilege in the fall election. The Declaration of Intentions act could thus well be made a subject of the call.

The act should long ago have been repealed. Labor is particularly hard hit by it, as heretofore noted by this newspaper, and the council contends that a minimum of 150,000 American citizens otherwise qualified by residence will be unable to vote this year if it is retained on the statute books, which seems a fair estimate.

This newspaper hopes the Maryland and District of Columbia Industrial Union Council will not stop with the sending of letters to the legislators. It should put them all on the spot, by tabulating the responses and giving publicity to the result, whatever it may be, indicating the dodgers and buck-passers along with those who have the courage to say yes or no. With regard to the latter, it may be said that the people will have more respect for them if they indicate their positions definitely, even though they may be honestly of the opinion that the Declaration of Intentions act is a beautiful and wonderful thing for protecting the Maryland suffrage even if they cannot be persuaded that it was enacted and inflicted upon the voters for Democratic benefit.

Political Courage By House Members

IT may have struck some readers as inconsistent with Republican tactics to note the endorsement by this newspaper of the refusal of House members at Washington to accede to a roll call on the soldier-voting bill in the same issue reporting a reversal of that stand by the House, which came late in a stormy night session.

But it was not. Circumstances alter cases and they altered that situation considerably. When decision to forego a roll call was made it was apparent that the New Dealers were planning to make a political issue of the roll call with the president and his crowd pointing to the Republicans as being "against" the right of the soldiers to vote, as falsely indicated by his irritable and unfair message on the subject.

But when the untenable and unfair position of the administration on the soldier-voting proposition was thoroughly aired in the House and it was disclosed so clearly that the Republicans were right and in accord with constitutional provisions, not even the administration forces except a few of the most servile could stomach the orders from the White House and it developed into something beyond political lines and resolved into one of the worst but nonetheless merited rebukes ever administered the New Deal by both Democrats and Republicans alike. It required political aggressiveness and courage to win over so large a part of the Democratic element and those who were won over deserve credit for their action.

Hence, the first refusal was not political cowardice as some commentators hastily concluded, but political courage and that was the case when Representative Martin finally rallied both forces into a stand for individual counting, then moved beyond the smirch of the presidential stigma.

Figures That Might Be Misleading

BECAUSE they have good reason for finding some sort of alibi, some New Deal spokesmen are pointing gleefully to the announcement that the army is returning to the Budget bureau $14,214,877,000 in appropriations of this fiscal year, added to which are appropriations of $13,163,519,000 already returned. The purpose is to create the false impression among many persons that the army expenditures have been cut some twenty-seven billions and that, hence, this is a "saving."

But, the truth is that not a single dollar of those sums has been "saved." The army has simply decided that expenditures which it once thought it would be obliged to make are not now necessary.

It must be remembered, in this connection, that appropriations in a war program always run far ahead of actual expenditures. Overall and ample provisions must be made for all contingencies when making up a future program as well as for taking care of the present one. Congress has never refused these appropriations and administrative officers set them up in the order of their necessity.

On the other hand, the actual outlay of money for the war program is represented by current expenditures, the deficit reports and the state of the public debt.

The fact that such large sums of the appropriations were found not to be necessary, however, is heartening. It indicates that the war program is sufficiently well in hand and that ample materiel has been provided for. But it means nothing so far as federal financing is concerned and in no wise does it indicate a lessening of the need represented by the Fourth War Loan campaign.

Willkie Moves Pretty Far Out on a Limb

WENDELL WILLKIE as an avowed candidate for the Republican presidential nomination has every right to promulgate his views and to be heard as such. Such rights should be accorded him by every Republican for he may develop his views in such manner as to win him the party nomination.

However, his latest utterances respecting a matching of colossal taxation with colossal spending, the reduction of which he does discountenance, does not appear to improve his chances in that direction. He declares that the country must be "ruthlessly" taxed now in wartime and to the preposterous extreme of double the enormous burden recommended by the prince of spenders in the White House.

It may well be wondered what Mr. Willkie considers "ruthless"—whether what we now have with all its discriminations and inequities isn't just about the acme of that term. It may be wondered how he expects the civilian economy, so essential for support of the war program, can be kept proportionately strong. It may also be wondered whence he would draw the terrific additional burden of some eighteen billions in taxes, the source of which he failed to denote in his Times hall address.

Willkie's utterances on foreign policy are less impressive for the simple reason that his former platform has been rather jerked out from under him; and his views on domestic problems are more pertinent. It may be conceded that he has some excellent views as to tax revision for the postwar period, particularly with regard to encouragement of industry and double taxation. But on the wartime tax burden it seems that he crawls pretty far out on a limb and lets his idealism outdistance his practical realism.

The Australian Red Cross has refused to become involved in marriages between American men and Aussie women. It finds martial problems sufficiently difficult without delving into the marital.

Roosevelt's new national chairman was formerly internal revenue commissioner, but New Dealers deny hotly that an income tax blank will be the symbol of their campaign.

With Mga, Pshisk valley and Wotje atoll figuring in war bulletins it seems relief for radio news commentators is still far off.

With the jet-propulsion plane, a post-war hunter may be able to roast a goose while it's still on the wing.

Confessions

By MARSHALL MASLIN

The other day a friend asked me if I could stand some frank criticism. . . I said I could. . . But as I said that I had a crinkly feeling at the back of my neck and knew I was lying.

I reminded myself of a dog growling in his throat at strange noises outside the house.

I used to write poems but I gave it up. . . Now I am amazed at all those people who aren't really poets either but who get so much pleasure out of writing poems. . . Bad ones, too.

I read the other day that a man is old when his thoughts turn more often toward the past than to the future. . . Is that true? . . . And who can do that these days?

When I was about nine years old I threw an orange at a Chinese vegetable man and he chased us down the alley. I was proud of that then, but I am ashamed of it now.

I like a blackbird with a scarlet splash on his wing. . . Also seals barking and diving from a rock off shore. . . And meadow larks singing on fenceposts. . . And women wearing saucy hats.

You are beginning to grow old when the noise of children at play annoys you.

Poster me to read a book and I'll find half a dozen reasons for not reading it.

I remember the scandal in our town when a middle-aged woman married a very young man. . . It was freely prophesied that the marriage wouldn't last and she'd be sorry. . . But it did and she wasn't.

If you haven't a "common streak" in you, I think you are missing a lot of the joy of life.

Colleagues Rate Clapper Fairest Of Newspapermen

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The war came home to the Washington correspondents with the news of the tragic fate that befell Raymond Clapper.

For not only had Ray Clapper been voted by his colleagues fairest and again to be the most fair-minded, but he was also the best-liked man among them.

Ray Clapper went beyond his line of duty. At the age of 51, he had reached a position in his profession as political analyst and Washington commentator which did not require him to cover war operations or to subject himself to the rigors of a war correspondent's life. He was not content, however, to see the war from a distance. He felt the throb of the United Nations' cause, and he was deeply affected by the trend of the world before we entered the war.

He was outspoken in 1940 and 1941 in his belief that America must make common cause with the free nations of the world. First Trip in Bomber

The first trip he made was to Britain in a bomber. Then he flew by way of South America and Africa to India and China, where he met Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. On another trip to Cairo he surveyed the Mediterranean developments and inspected the Salerno area.

Still another trip Clapper made was to Sweden, where he got at first-hand some impressions of what was happening inside of Germany. He disregarded the risks of wartime travel by plane and kept his thoughts focused on how he could be of service to his readers. After each visit he came back to Washington and shared with his colleagues the impressions derived from his journeys.

Duty Held Uppermost

Ray Clapper made up his mind to go out to the Pacific to get the answers to many questions. He wanted to know about MacArthur and the New Guinea operations. He wanted to get closer to what was happening in mid-Pacific. He was given every facility by the government, and he shrank from no risk, for he felt it was his duty to take those risks.

Clapper was well-liked by officialdom, by Republicans as well as by Democrats. He knew all of America's prominent men, and they came to recognize in his work the integrity and disinterestedness which is the goal of every honest member of the journalistic profession. He was known as a liberal, yet he did not hesitate to criticize liberals. He was known as the friend of President Roosevelt and of Wendell Willkie and yet he did not hesitate to criticize their utterances and actions if he felt that the criticism was justified.

A Foremost Commentator

Ray Clapper began in the routine reportorial tasks of press association work only to find himself soon on important special assignments as his experience increased and his judgment ripened. He not only wrote daily dispatches that were widely syndicated in newspapers from coast to coast but he became one of the ablest of the radio news commentators.

Ray Clapper's quality of friendship was of the enduring sort that will leave behind it a memory how decent and honorable competitive reporting can be in a profession too often marked by jealousies and unwarranted manifestations of rivalry.

Ray Clapper lost his life in a battle zone in an airplane accident, but the hand of fate which ended abruptly his useful career wrote as indelibly as if he had fallen in battle the final chapter in the biography of a truly heroic personality.

This Jargon Should Go

From the Christian Science Monitor

Was your neighbor's face a mixture of bewilderment, vexation and incredulity as he started out to work this morning? Perhaps he had been making out his income-tax return last night.

Possibly some gem like line 6 of Schedule L-1 had engaged his attention:

"THE FORGIVEN portion of the tax is either $50 or three-fourths of the SMALLER of the 1942 tax (line 4), above, whichever is LARGER."

Remember the explanation about the Pullman berth—how the upper was lower because it was higher, while the lower was higher because it was not so high?

Well, the 1943 tax blank and set of instructions are just full of charming little passages like that; charming unless you have to figure out what they mean, in which case they become baffling, if not exasperating. And the very bulk of the task even for a modest and simple income is an inexhaustible drain on the time of a war-busy people.

The complications of a Victory tax, a withholding tax, an earned-income credit, and a forgiveness feature have combined to make pages on pages of legalistic and accounting jargon. In all fairness, it needs to be said that this is not primarily

A LANGUAGE HE DOESN'T UNDERSTAND

Salutary Resurgence of State Vitality Is Seen in Quick Action on Soldier Voting

By MARK SULLIVAN

Disregarding none of the controversy that has arisen over soldier-voting, let us use it as a clue to the longer picture of which is incident is a part.

In December the Senate passed a bill putting soldier-voting up to the states. And it was known that the House committee having charge of the matter favored this bill, indeed that the House as a whole was likely to adopt it.

This put the states upon notice that they might have the responsibility for conducting soldier-voting. Vigorously the states prepared to accept the responsibility and live up to it. States whose absentee voting laws were inadequate for soldier-voting (mainly because the time allowed was too short to accommodate soldiers overseas) set about amending their laws. In a considerable number of states, this entailed special sessions of the legislature.

Special Sessions Called

Promptly and energetically special sessions were called. In three states—Illinois, West Virginia, Georgia—special sessions were called, enacted the necessary legislation, and adjourned as early as the middle of January. In other states including California and Iowa, special sessions were called for late January. In yet other states special sessions were planned for February. In some states the necessary changes of law could be made in regular, scheduled sessions of their legislatures, and this process was under way.

The sum of these activities by many states amounted to an upsurge of vitality on the part of state governments, a quick readiness on their part to carry on functions devolving upon them. It was an expression of vigorous life for the very principle of local government, the desirability of local state government over centralized government at Washington.

In this situation President Roosevelt on January 26, sent to Congress a remarkable message—so extraordinary that he said he was sending the message not in his role of president, but as a citizen.

Extraordinary Situation

The Roosevelt message dealt with a situation in Congress as extraordinary as his message. There had arisen in the Senate a movement to reverse what it had previously done about soldier-voting. Having first said that soldier-voting should be carried on by the states, the new measure in the Senate proposed to take soldier-voting away from the states, and put it in the hands of the federal government.

It was to promote this new measure that Mr. Roosevelt sent his message to Congress. In words that attained violence, he denounced the idea that soldier voting should be carried on by the states. That his message was an extreme intrusion by the executive upon the legislative branch of the government, Mr. Roosevelt knew and said. It was to relieve himself from criticism for this, that he said he was not sending his message as president, but as a citizen.

Mr. Roosevelt's message, and the Senate movement it promoted, had of course the effect of arresting the activity of the states. In a canvas of state governors by telegraph, conducted by Senator Byrd, of Virginia, governor after governor replied that they and the state legislatures were waiting to see what Congress would do.

Serious Setback

If this frustration of an upsurge of vitality on the part of the states should be permanent, the result would be a serious setback to the very principle of state government and state functioning. In any institution or individual, impulse to action which does not go on to fulfillment is likely to leave increased weakness. And the principle of state functioning cannot afford to become weaker. Loss of functions by the states, and absorption of functions by the federal government, has already gone so far as to create concern upon the part of the states. Indeed it was this concern that led them to begin action so promptly in the matter of soldier voting.

A recent example of decline of the states, has been the transfer of great tracts of land, and other property, from the dominion of the states to the federal government. The land and property thus lost to the states, is lost to them for the purpose of taxation—leaving them with less revenue with which to function. This is but one of many examples of a procession somber to the principle of local government.

Another Prediction

From the Pittsburgh Press

The United States News, a magazine devoted to reporting what goes on in the government, predicts:

"Committees of Congress will go through the motion of considering laws to simplify the tax structure and to bring about a general administrative overhauling. Chances are, however, that no final action will be taken until 1945. Too many election-year problems will intervene."

On the basis of past performance, that seems a safe prediction. But there is one factor, we think, which may compel Congress to snap out of it this time—namely the mounting anger of taxpayers, who don't mind shelling out necessary taxes to the government, but who are fed up with the unnecessary complexities and red tape of the present methods of computing their taxes.

Taxpayers—some forty million strong, and nearly all of them voters—know that such mumbo-jumbo is inexcusable. They know the headaches and mental anguish involved in the Rube Goldberg Tax Forms No. 1040 and No. 1040A could be avoided if Congress would draft a simple income-tax law and the Treasury would issue simple rules and regulations. And their patience is wearing thin.

If Congress does stall off this reform until next year, as The United States News forecasts, we venture a second prediction: A great many members of the present Congress will be missing next year.

Suicide Wave Is Expected in Japan Over Failures

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—Look for a sharp increase in the coming months in suicides or mysterious "accidental deaths" among Japanese military and naval leaders.

So far, the Japanese people have been fooled through broadcasts of false victories into believing the Jap forces still dominate the Southwest Pacific. Even if the Japs evacuate Rabaul, those on the home-front would be told it was a strategic victory.

But as Allied forces strike closer and closer to the Japanese home islands, the Nipponese high command will no longer be able to conceal its blunders and its inability to cope with the western powers.

"Honorable suicide" will be the only way out for these leaders, American guns and bombs do not get them first.

Indications are that startling developments may be expected in the Pacific in the near future. The United States Pacific Fleet has reached such strength that it soon should be able to move almost anywhere in the vast war theater, provided supply lines can keep up with it.

New Conference Is Expected

Another meeting between F. D. R. and Churchill may well be scheduled for the near future—the end of February or the first of March. They said at the end of their Quebec conference that it was their intention to get together at least once every three months—sooner, if events warranted.

Events now may warrant it. Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill and their military staffs might desire a huddle to perfect the final eleventh hour invasion plans. Also future relations with Russia as result of the Soviet-Polish border dispute offers a topic for discussion.

Should the meeting have as its main purpose second front discussions, it is distinctly possible that Russian military leaders—possibly Premier Josef Stalin himself—would participate. It has been inferred, following the Teheran talks among the "Big Three" that any second-front operation would be accompanied by coinciding hammer blows on Germany from the east.

Gloomy Retrospection

One well-informed United States authority insists that if Russia had not been drawn into the war, or had been knocked out according to Hitler's original timetable, the United States now would be fighting a two-front war within its own borders.

Although declining to be named, this authority gloomily envisioned the evacuation of Washington; establishment of an eastern front along the Alleghenies; a western front at the Rockies; the Japs in possession of Hawaii and Alaska.

The speaker, whose sources of information are very good, argues that without the Soviet, the United States would be fighting for its life now to hold apart the closing jaws of a mighty pincer movement. The worrisome of Americans would be far more terrible than strikes, inflation and the 1944 elections, he said.

Oleo Jitters

American housewives have given the Office of Price Administration midnight jitters with their huge purchases of oleomargarine. Lard partial to butter, Americans had a per capita consumption of 32 pounds of margarine in 1943. In 1932, the figure was 13 pounds.

So great has been the demand that consumers have been buying more margarine than O.P.A. had on hand to ration, notwithstanding the fact that the point value was increased from four to six points a pound in November.

The reason for the margarine "run" was due to the fact that it had a lower point value than butter and, in addition, has been more widely available as a bread spread.

O.P.A. authorities have taken steps to head off a threatened margarine shortage. The Food Distribution Administration will soon increase civilian allotments for the first quarter of 1944 and, unless unforeseen developments arise, the ration point value is not expected to be increased.

Factographs

The wage loss, medical expense and overhead cost of insurance associated with 1942 national occupational accidents amounted to $1,000,000,000.

Under wartime tuberculosis control, the government has X-rayed one out of every five adults in the United States.

First societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals were formed in England.

The maximum duration of an eclipse of the sun is seven minutes. United States manufacturers have 50,000 workers absent each day because of accidents.

The army suggests that if soldiers are lost in the jungle, they should eat only what monkeys eat.

There never did, and never will exist anything permanently noble and excellent in the character which is a stranger to the exercise of resolute self-denial.—WALTER SCOTT brilliant scientific mind. A quiet, shy, studious man, he was doing important work in physics and was absorbed in his research. Then he fell desperately in love, and had no words with which to tell Marie that he wanted her to be his wife.

One of the film's most charming scenes is that in which Pierre goes to Marie's Paris attic room, and invites her to spend a week-end at the country home of his parents before she returns to Poland. Marie is packing when Pierre knocks at the door, a surprise visitor. She has determined to leave Paris forever to teach in Poland. Pierre has put up all kinds of arguments against her going, saying that he can't understand how she can abandon science. Actually, he is trying to tell her of his love.

Charles Laughton, Binnie Barnes, Richard Carlson, Donna Reed, Clyde Cook and Horace McNally are featured in the supporting cast.
The story, which opens in Belgium in 1919 and runs through to the present day in Australia, recites the adventures of a blustering and thoroughly likable character, Jocko Wilson, a new addition to Laughton's long string of outstanding screen characterizations.
While essentially a comedy, the film becomes dramatic in its climax when Australia girds itself against a threatening Jap invasion.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

HARD JOB A CHALLENGE
MERELY because a job is hard to do—that is no reason for giving up. To the real fighter and worker, a tough assignment is merely a challenge, and puts him on his mettle to deliver his best goods. It is then he has a chance to justify his standing in the group in which he operates. Anybody can do an easy job, so there is no particular kick in performing one. Only the good performer succeeds with the difficult task.

It was certainly not easy to count up 12 trick takers on that deal after West led the diamond 8. But just a little help from the opposition and some careful reading of the cards by himself enabled South to do the trick. The help came on the second trick after the diamond A won the opener and the spade J was led. When West unwisely covered with his K, which the A felled.

The diamond K and Q were scored and the club Q, whereupon the heart 3 was led and the 10 fished to the J, only trick the defenders got. Back came the spade 3 to the Q, the spade 10 followed and then the heart 5 was led, the K dropping under the A. East was now marked as having held only two cards each in the majors so West had the rest. This then prescribed the pattern for a squeeze on him.

The club A was scored, then the K, which squeezed West. Holding the spade 9 higher than dummy's 5, he also had the heart 9-7 and dummy the heart Q-6. Had he tossed a heart, the dummy's two hearts would have scored the last two tricks. But he threw off his spade, whereupon dummy discarded the heart 8, the heart 5 was led to the Q and the spade 5 took the final trick, for a squeeze pretty low down in the deck.

Your Week-End Lesson
Can you think of a situation in which it is sound to bid two suits named by your opponents, never once mentioning any declaration you desire to play yourself?

Soldier Stationery
PORT MORESBY (AP)—Shortage of paper in the front line in New Guinea produced some strange letters. They were written on coconuts, husks, leaves, cardboard cigarette packets, and some were carved on whole coconuts.

Injuries account for four times as many lost man-hours as strikes.

OPA Closes Three Food Stores Here For Violations

Operations Are Suspended for One Week Beginning February 28

By A. TRAGO BRUST, JR.
Three Cumberland food markets were ordered closed for one week yesterday on charges of violating price ceiling regulations. Office of Price Administration headquarters in Baltimore announced.

The stores were listed by the OPA as the Potomac Fruit Market, 65 North Centre street; Coyle Brothers Sanitary Market, 222 Virginia avenue; and Stacey's grocery, 31 North Centre street.

All three of the stores were ordered to suspend operations for one week period beginning February 28 by OPA Commissioner Clifford R. Snider at a hearing in Baltimore yesterday.

Frank Patitucci, trading as the Potomac Fruit Market, was charged with exceeding the ceiling price on seven items. Francis L. and James T. Coyle, owners of Coyle Brothers market, and Albert Windish, operating Stacey's grocery, were charged with exceeding the ceiling on ten items.

Involved Canned Goods

Testimony at the hearing revealed the violations at all three stores involved chiefly canned fruit and some canned vegetables and prices over the ceiling ranged from one to six cents.

Stacey's market was not represented at the hearing. OPA officials said, but in a letter addressed to the OPA district office acknowledged making charges higher than those permitted by the regulations.

Previous investigation into sales at Stacey's were conducted on complaints made to the Cumberland Price Panel, which attempted to obtain compliance with the regulations. OPA officials said, before the case was reported to the district office.

Investigations into sales above ceiling prices at the Potomac Fruit Market and Coyle Brothers grocery followed complaints made by consumers to the local board. As a result of these investigations, the hearing revealed, the stores in question were sent letters warning them of their operations.

Face Drastic Action

Commissioner Snider, in suspending operations of the stores, said they were closed only for a week because it was the first time their operators have appeared before him. He warned the operators that if they continue to violate regulations and price ceilings and are brought before him again they face more drastic action and may be closed for a longer period, perhaps for the duration.

The operators, Snider said, have the privilege of handling rationed commodities during the war and it is their obligation to live up to the regulations.

He told them that they cannot use as an excuse that they are too busy or that they are not familiar with the regulations. Everybody is busy now, he said, including the boys on the battle lines.

Lieut. Rowan, who will be 24 years-old the latter part of this month, flies a B-26 and has his base in the Mediterranean. Having been sent abroad in November, he has already received the Air Medal.

In speaking of Italians he writes he is amused with many of their ways and says if the American people could see how they live they would have another reason for being glad they live in America.

Gateway CHATTER

Discussing the recent wastepaper collection drive during which 118 truckloads of paper were gathered and loaded into box cars within the space of two hours for shipment to Virginia, Charles E. Bramble, of the Teamsters Union, reports that it was the most co-operative spirited movement he has ever seen in Cumberland.

"Everyone pitched in and did a good job and there wasn't a single hitch in the program," Bramble relates.

The 250 persons who volunteered their services to load the trucks and box cars ranged from high school boys and Boy Scouts to bank officials and that's no exaggeration.

One local banker donned a pair of corduroy trousers and a lumberjack shirt, jumped on a state roads commission truck and toted bundles of paper just like the other fellows. He told his friends that he "needed the exercise."

This might be a good tip for other swivel chair artists.

Hunter B. Helfrich, who tossed his fedora into the city political race the other day, went to city hall and advised City Clerk Grimmer that he was applying in person for his "naturalization" papers. Sam was a bit perplexed at first, told Hunter he would have to make application at the court house, and then it dawned on him that the pride of Sylvan avenue really wanted petition papers to become a candidate for council.

Delving into past history of his family, Helfrich relates that his mother and father were born in Cumberland and his ancestors came to America by riding surfboards attached to the rear of the good ship Mayflower.

Many persons know John R. Kelly and there are many who are acquainted with Ralph Kelly. For your information they are one and the same person. Kelly has a habit of saying "No, this is John," when he is called Ralph on the telephone. When he is called John he answers "No, this is Ralph."

"Who is this, Ralph or John?" one of his friends inquired. "I'm both of 'em," Kelly replied.

Kelly is expected to have John Ralph placed before his surname on the primary ballot to make sure that he gets credit for the votes cast for "both" fellows.

A young lady whose address is Hudson Falls, N. Y., dropped Mayor Conlon a few lines the other day requesting his autographed picture of a letter bearing his signature.

"I am trying to make a collection of famous and distinguished mayors and I am hoping to add yours," the sweet young thing wrote. The mayor was flabbergasted, he admitted when he looked up the word distinguished in the dictionary and found out what it meant, so he wrote:

Do you want my picture with or without hat?"

The Maryland Bureau of Mines says what is needed at the present time in Western Maryland is a new and up-to-date topographic map of Garrett county. At the present there is a considerable amount of coal stripping going on and during the last ten or fifteen years a great many new roads have been built in that county, and a large amount of land has been purchased by the state and the United States government.

In order to appreciate the amount of this land and for future mineral development there should be a new topographic map, the bureau asserts.

What is needed at the present time in Cumberland, Chatter is sure that many will agree, is a good two-for-a-nickel cigar. How about it Smitty?

Bond Auction Tablecloth Represented More than Month and Half of Work

Although she has no one in the service, Mrs. Frank L. Deetz, Pearre avenue, donor of a hand-crocheted tablecloth which brought the highest price at the bond auction at the Strand theater Thursday night, devoted several hours each day for about a month and a half to the piece of handiwork that was bought with a $3,000 bond.

She told the purchaser of the tablecloth that she is working on another which she hopes to be able to offer again to a similar cause.

NO NEW CLUES DEVELOP IN SEARCH FOR THIEF WHO IGNORED BULLETS

No new clues had developed last night in a police department search for a thief who broke into a Henderson avenue cafe early yesterday morning, made two attempts to enter a Valley street cafe and then calmly walked away when a resident who lives above the latter establishment fired two shots over his head.

A burglary was committed at Walter Liebrant's cafe, 247 Henderson avenue, before 2 a. m. yesterday by a thief who broke in a side window to gain entrance and then took $5.50 in charge, and police said he probably is the same man who was the target of two shots fired by Oscar J. Aldridge, who lives above Peter's Place, 305 Valley street, object of the attempted burglary.

The thief attempted to open two windows at Peter's Place, operated by Peter Meconi, now a patient in Allegheny hospital. The noise awakened Aldridge who in pajamas and bare feet, went out on the sidewalk with a twenty-two calibre rifle and fired two shots over the head of the thief who was walking away from the place.

Youth Admits He Molested Local Women

Raymond Miller, 16, Confesses after Victims Identify Him

Raymond Miller, 16, 226 Emily street, confessed early yesterday morning to attacking three Cumberland women in recent weeks, Assistant Chief of Police John J. Treiber announced last night.

The assistant chief said Miller confessed about 1 a. m., a short time after he had been identified by two of three women he is accused of molesting.

Miller was arrested on North Liberty street near police headquarters Thursday night by Treiber after he had been pointed out as the attacker by one of the women who was grabbed.

She was attacked at Park and Harrison streets and had been on the lookout for the youth when she saw him on Liberty street Thursday and told the assistant chief who was nearby at the time.

Treiber followed the youth a short distance before taking him into custody. The woman who pointed him out went to police headquarters and made a positive identification.

Shortly after midnight a second of the three women identified the youth and about a half hour later he confessed to all three of the attacks, Treiber said, adding that Miller has also been identified by the third woman.

Arrest of the youth, who has a previous record, brought to an end a three-week search for the attacker, and Treiber said last night that women residing in the localities where the attacks occurred should now feel at ease on leaving their homes at night.

Miller will be taken to the office of the state's attorney at 10 o'clock this morning when a formal charge is expected to be entered against him.
